

Privacy Policy

Our Policy

Positive Black Images goes to great lengths to protect our customers' personal information. We will not exchange, share, rent or sell any of the information we obtain from you to any third party. We use your information for the sole purpose of completing the sale.

We use various technologies in order to protect your credit card information and continue to adapt new technologies as they present themselves to ensure that your financial information is as safe and secure as possible.

We do send occasional email advertisements and site updates to those who have purchased products from us in the past. If you no longer want to receive these emails, please contact our office and we will immediately remove you from our mailing list.

If you have any further questions and/or concerns regarding our privacy or security policy, please feel free to contact a member of our staff at any time.

Cookies

As you browse the Positive Black Images Fine Art site, as our technology evolves, advertising cookies may be placed on your computer so that we can understand what you are interested in. This will enable our display advertising partners to present you with retargeting advertising on other sites based on your previous interaction with Positive Black Images. The techniques our partners employ will not collect personal information such as your name, email address, postal address or telephone number. You will also be able to opt out of our display partners' targeted advertising.

Positive Black Images
"You Have To See It, To Be It"